I am currently a 2nd year General Surgery Registrar at the University of Pretoria. I would like to represent you, the future surgeons of South Africa. All of us deserve to have a say in the training that we receive and my aim is to improve the quality of the courses held by SASSiT and create a space where we can share our knowledge and experiences from all over the country. Furthermore, I believe that through the advancements made in technology and social media, we can further our reach to all aspiring surgeons, from registrars to medical students. SASSiT has become an established brand in the surgical society of South Africa and my objective is to broaden our horizons even further.
